USB 2.0 Benefits

USB 1.1 offers top transfer speeds of up to 12 Mbps and the IEEE 1394 firewire standard is capable of speeds up to 400 Mbps. This however was the past. With the new implementation of USB Hi Speed version 2.0 you can connect to your peripherals at a blazing 480 Mbps. This new technology combines the functionality and ease of use of USB with speeds faster than firewire. USB 2.0 gives you the freedom to install the newest tech devices out in the market. External DVD players, DVD Burners, CD Burners High Speed Hard Drives, Digital Cameras, Digital Camcorders, Networking devices, and High End Scanners all demand high throughput which is easily provided by USB 2.0 and your Hawking UH214 4-Port USB 2.0 Hub. This high powered hub is capable of connecting up to 127 USB devices through cascading multiple hubs. It also supports self powered mode, to eliminate messy cable tangles. With the UH214, you do not have to worry about compatibility problems with older USB devices because it is backwards compatible with the USB Revision 1.1 products. This means your previously invested USB devices can continue to function at usual while you speed away with your High Speed v2.0 USB devices.
